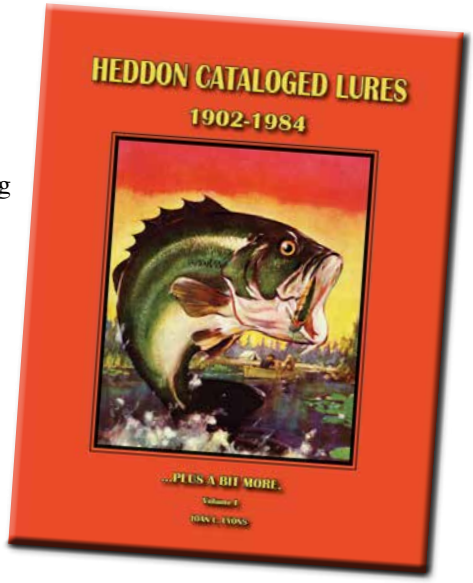
HEDDON CATALOGED LURES

1902-1984 ...PLUS A BIT MORE. Volume I



By JOAN L. LYONS

M.T. Publishing Company is excited to offer a historic new look at Heddon fishing lures. In the late 1890s James Heddon cast his hand-made lure into a Dowagiac, Mich., pond. Founded in 1902, Heddon was one of the pioneer manufacturers of artificial fishing lures.

This new title (Volume I of III) examines in great detail each of the over 400 Heddon lures that were featured in Heddon's annual catalog for the 82 years that they called Dowagiac home. This 600+ page book also has chapters on colors, lures of special interest and more. This is not a price guide, but a research tool, listing lure details in easy to read forms. With over 500 color pages, it's sure to be the ONE book that everyone interested in Heddon lures must have. The book will be an 8.5 x 11-inch, coffee-table style with a deluxe hard bound cover featuring glossy, double-coated pages allowing for superior photo reproduction.
